

GERMAN LEGIONS MOVE ON WARSAW

Von Hindenburg's Supreme Effort to Take Stronghold Under Way.

BUDAPEST IS MENACED

Russian Advance in South Sweeps
Bukovina—Prepare to Block
Teutons.

London, Jan. 9.—While Russia has been crushing the Turks in Caucasus and punishing the Austrians in Bukovina, Galicia, and Hungary the German forces in Central Poland, prevented from continuing their offensive by bad weather and worse roads, have been quietly but busily assembling a great mass of men for a new drive on Warsaw as soon as conditions should permit.

That moment has now arrived, and reports from the fighting zone say that the Kaiser's troops again are on the move, marching against the Polish capital from the north.

This much is known in Petrograd, where it also is known that the Grand Duke Nicholas, the Russian commander-in-chief, has been coadjutor of the new plan evolved by Marshal von Hindenburg, and has, equally quietly, made every preparation to interfere with its success. The result of this maneuvering on both sides is expected to be a new battle that will, as each successive great engagement seems to have done, eclipse those before it.

German Heavily Re-enforced.

The Germans have been greatly re-enforced during the last week or more. More than 300,000 trained troops from Belgium recently have joined them, heavy artillery has been brought up and the most complete arrangements have been made for the attempt. Russian spies and scouts have reported fully on this situation, but the bad weather and soil conditions which gave the Germans the chance to get ready also prevented the Russians from interfering and obliged them to adopt the same strengthening tactics.

The German force picked for the assault north of the Vistula is expected to proceed from East Prussia along the river, while another German army at Miawa protects it from molestation by engaging Russian troops in that region. Pransky is on the line of advance and it is reported that a large section of the attacking army has been assembled there and that on Thursday last a small Russian detachment was in action with the German outposts.

March on Budapest.

The latest Russian official statement refers chiefly to the situation in Bukovina, also announcing that Russian troops skirting along the Austro-Rumanian frontier have crossed into Hungary by Borgo Pass and are ready to march on Budapest, finally effecting a junction with the troops which have gone through Bukla Pass, Uzuk Pass, and two other defiles in the mountain barrier.

The statement also tells of desperate attacks by the Germans on the left bank of the Vistula and the capture of certain Russian trenches.

A dispatch from Amsterdam says that reports have been received there that the surrender of Warsaw to the Germans is imminent. No such claim has been made by the Germans themselves.

Further details of the fighting on the Cracow front and in Bukovina show that the Russians outwitted the Austrians and by skillful maneuvering got them in such unfavorable positions that they could put up only a feeble resistance. The invasion of Hungary through the Carpathians imperils the Austrians, who are still in Galicia, reports say, because if it becomes necessary for them to withdraw they may find them cut off. They can advance no further because the Russians have mined all the roads and besides hold exceptionally strong positions, so there appears to be nothing for them to do except stay where they are and fight.

DAD TAKES PLACE OF GROOM ON HONEYMOON

Now Young Husband Is on Way Back.
While Bride Is Sailing to Bermuda with Father.

New York, Jan. 9.—L. K. Pollard, of West Plains, Mo., is one of those stern parents who are so popular in the movies. He arrived in New York today just in time to part his daughter and her new husband, Clyde Oliver, of New Madrid, Mo.

The young couple had eloped and were planning to spend their honeymoon in Bermuda. They had engaged staterooms aboard the Bermuda-American liner Oceanic, and were cozily ensconced there, waiting for the ship to sail, when Mrs. Oliver decided she would like some fruit. Oliver, like any other bridegroom, scorned the suggestion of sending steward on the errand, and volunteered to go ashore himself and get with the best fruit in the market.

When he returned he saw, at the ship end of the gangplank, his wife clasped in the arms of another man. This was bad enough, and he started up the plank in hot haste, but worse was to come. The other man looked around, and Oliver hesitated. Then he backed down the plank, while Mrs. Oliver struggled to be free.

The glance had revealed that the supposed stranger was really Mrs. Oliver's father, and while Pollard dared Oliver to come aboard, and Mrs. Oliver demanded that her parent release her, the whistle blew, the gangplank was hauled in, and Oliver stood on the pier watching his wife and her father sail down the bay. The young man is going back to Kansas City, where he and Miss Pollard were married, and says on her return he will arrange with her mother to intercede for him.

Russian Attack Repulsed.

Vienna, Jan. 9.—The following official statement was made tonight by the general staff:

"The situation in the main remains unchanged. There have been no prolonged engagements."

"The Austrians have repulsed a strong Russian attack in the western Carpathians to the eastward of Czernowicz, capturing 40 prisoners and three machine guns."

WOMEN WILL WORK TO STOP WARFARE

For peace and we believe that when the plans we are considering now are drawn up into proper shape we will have an instrument with which we can really accomplish something to end the horrible conditions in Europe and insure a lasting peace for the world."

MISS JANET RICHARDS.

Miss Richards was nominated for the chairmanship of the meeting by Miss Jane Addams and she demonstrated the wisdom of Miss Addams' choice by the success with which she steered the discussion on the platform away from the rocks of technicalities and kept the meeting on a high plane.

Mrs. C. H. H. Committee.

The platform committee was made up of Mrs. Catt, Mrs. Anne Garlin Spencer, Miss Addams, Mrs. Fanny Fern Andrews, of Boston, Mrs. Lucia Ames Mead, of MRS. CARRIE CHAPMAN CATT.

Boston, Mrs. Charlotte Perkins Gilman, of New York, and Mrs. Louis D. Post, of New York, were named to fill the vacancy.

The committee on plan of action: Miss Florence Holbrook, of Chicago, chairman; Mrs. Gilson Gardner, Dr. C. S. Ludlow, both of Washington; Mrs. Henry Villard, of New York; Mrs. George T. Odell, Mrs. Frank Williams, Miss Marion Burritt, of New York; Mrs. Simkhovich, of New York; Mrs. Anna Garlin Spencer, and Mrs. V. W. Spill.

"I have never been snubbed or insulted in any way for voting against the half-and-half plan. As to social ostracism, I have never even heard of any member of Congress being so punished for voting against the present system of appropriating for the District."

Representative Heilin, of Alabama: "I have never been snubbed or insulted for opposing the half-and-half plan and I have never heard of a member of Congress being socially ostracized by the people of Washington."

Representative Lever, of South Carolina: "I have never heard of any member being snubbed or insulted by Washingtonians for opposing the half-and-half plan."

THE COMMITTEE ON ORGANIZATION: Mrs. Catt, Mrs. Andrews, Miss Julia Lathrop, Mrs. John Jay White, and Mrs. Kate Waller Barrett.

Nations Should Make Guns.

William Hard, a magazine editor, during the afternoon meeting, supported the contention that gun factories should be conducted by the nations themselves and in support of his argument quoted from a memorandum of Prof. Treat, of the University of Wisconsin to show that many of the government heads of Great Britain and other powers are financially interested not only in the gun factories of their own country, but of nations that might become hostile and thus are promoting the manufacture of munitions of war that might be turned against their own country men.

Miss Duryea, of Boston, said it was admitted fact that the present European war may be followed by another European conflict, and that by an Asiatic-European war.

That the world-peace movement is to go hand in hand with the woman suffrage movement was the argument of Dr. Anna Shaw, president of the National Woman Suffrage Association. She urged on the delegates the necessity of arriving at some means to bring world peace that would be possible of immediate application.

A graphic picture of the suffering of the women of England are enduring because of the war was painted by Mrs. Fethick Lawrence, who said it would take two or three generations to eradicate the effects of the war on the children that are being brought into the world under its influence.

Congress being snubbed or socially ostracized for opposing the half-and-half plan, and I am quite sure that no indignity has ever been offered me for my stand on the matter."

Representative Lindbergh, of Minnesota: "I have never had any unpleasant experiences as a result of my vote against the half-and-half plan."

Representative Reuss, of Kentucky: "I never have been snubbed, ostracized, insulted, or offered an indignity of any kind for voting against the half-and-half plan, and I never have even heard about such a thing."

Representative Oldfield, of Arkansas: "I may say positively that no snub, insult, or indignity of any kind ever has been offered me by any of the people of Washington because I voted against the half-and-half plan."

Representative Tamm, of Illinois: "I never have had even a suspicion of being snubbed on account of my vote against the half-and-half plan. I may say further that I have not been ostracized for my vote in my conversations with people residing in Washington."

Representative Anderson, of Minnesota: "I would be very much surprised to learn that any member of Congress has been ill treated personally for voting against the half-and-half plan."

Representative Aiken, of South Carolina: "I have never heard of a member of Congress being offered an indignity by the people of Washington for his vote on any measure during the twelve years I have been a member of Congress."

Representative Hulings, of Pennsylvania: "The people of the District never offered me any indignity and I may say that I have never even offered me a drink."

Representative Keating, of Colorado: "I can say that no citizen of Washington, male or female, has ever treated me with anything but the utmost courtesy."

Representative Tribble, of Georgia: "No one has ever mentioned my vote against the half-and-half plan so far as I know and I am quite sure that no one has ever offered me an affront or indignity on account of my vote."

Representative Adams, of Indiana: "The people of the District have always treated me with uniform courtesy and this was especially true during the two years I was a member of the House District Committee."

Representative Bartlett, of Georgia: "The citizens of the District have always treated me with the utmost courtesy. I have never been offered a snub or indignity of any kind for voting against the half-and-half plan for any other reason."

Representative Baileys, of Ohio: "I have never been snubbed or insulted in any way for voting against the half-and-half plan. As to social ostracism, I have never even heard of any member of Congress being so punished for voting against the present system of appropriating for the District."

Representative Heilin, of Alabama: "I have never been snubbed or insulted for opposing the half-and-half plan and I have never heard of a member of Congress being socially ostracized by the people of Washington."

Representative Lever, of South Carolina: "I have never heard of any member being snubbed or insulted by Washingtonians for opposing the half-and-half plan."

RATE FIGHT AHEAD OF DISTRICT UTILITIES

President. I sincerely believe that these acts of the President and Senate settled the question of my eligibility. Were I to fail to resist with every proper instrumentality the suit to oust me I would show disrespect and disloyalty to the President and the Senate, both superior authorities to a Commissioner. I don't mind announcing here and now that you will find me standing squarely upon my feet to the end of the chapter."

Speaking of his platform of three planks, Commissioner Newman said: "By the socialization of the instrumentalities and functions of the District government I mean the development to the greatest and most effective use of the idea that the District government is to serve the people of the District."

Referring to the work of the Public Utilities Commission of the District, he said:

"But I want to predict that the time when the quiet drudgery will have ended and the fireworks start is not far distant."

Must Have Cost Facts.

"As you know the Supreme Court of the United States has laid down as a principle, which must be followed throughout the country that every public service corporation is entitled to and must be permitted to earn a reasonable profit on the value of its property used in the conduct of its business. If we had ordered universal transfer—use that merely as an illustration—the street railway companies probably would have taken us into court and would have said, 'If we lease these transfers you will have taken away from us enough of our profits so that we cannot earn a reasonable return upon the value of our property used and useful in the conduct of our business.' The court would have asked us if that were true and we would have had to say, 'We do not know,' because we do not know, nobody knows the value of the properties used and useful in the conduct of the street rail-
